PRICE TWO CENTS

Money Raised; New Gym Built At U. of B.C.

Vancouver. — (CUP) — Construction will begin almost immediately on a War Memorial Gymnasium at the University of British Columbia. The proposed structure, dubbed the "hall of heroes" by the students, is to be a memorial to the students of the university who were killed during the last war.

The idea was first mentioned at a student's council meeting in 1945, students were not discouraged by early opinion that the $100,000 pledge for the Gym Fund was a goal that could never be attained. The necessary funds were raised through large public contributions, a "mile of quarters," and other means. The students dream is about to become a reality.

The gymnasium is to be a low, modernistic building with a glass front. Memorial windows will overlook newly landscaped playing fields. The main hall is to be capable of accommodating 6,000 persons.

The pool and the central part of the gymnasium will not be completed, architects have stated, until additional funds are raised. A grant of $225,000 has been promised by the government, and three students have made the financial arrangements with the Provincial Government of British Columbia for the payment of this amount.

Final touches are to be put on the building during the students' summer holidays next year; and it is hoped that the additional $100,000 necessary for the completion of the swimming pool will be raised in the near future.

Contractors expect that the $700,000 building will be ready for use next autumn if construction schedules are kept.

Buck Speaks Wed. P.M.

Tim Buck, leader of the Labor Progressive Party, will address a meeting to be held at the McGill Union on Wednesday, Oct. 19, at 5 p.m. The subject of his talk will be: "The Growing Danger to Civil Liberties in Canada."

The McGill LPP Club is sponsoring this meeting.

Buck is in Montreal to support Paul Gellinas, the Labor Progressive Party candidate in the coming Federal by-election.

He helped found the Canadian Communist movement, and in 1929 Buck became the leader of the Communist Party in Canada.

Emigrating from England in 1910, Buck was active in the labor movement and was one of the organizers of the International Union of Miners.

Red Heads! Aah, Redheads! Geneticist Needs Volunteers

By GERALD N. F. CHARNES

A call for red-heads was issued yesterday by Dr. Hans Kalmus, Associate professor of Genetics. He stated that this interest is purely scientific, the object being to establish possible genetic relations of hair color and blood grouping.

Dr. Kalmus urged everyone on the campus, who has red hair himself, or who has brothers or sisters of this color of hair living in Montreal, to communicate with the department of Genetics. The experiments are simple and harmless, and will take up only fifteen minutes of the student's time. Subjects may be either male or female.

Moreover, in studying some genetic characteristics in their distribution among various people, he would be most grateful for the cooperation of students belonging to the various ethnic groups on the campus. This applies to all students, not only those interested in this particular field.

Dr. Kalmus, recently arrived from England, is an associate professor of Genetics at McGill. For some years now, his main interest has been human genetics in both its geographical and human aspects. "I think," he said, "Montreal and particularly McGill, provides an excellent opportunity to test people for various hereditary characteristics. I hope very much that students will help by volunteering for simple and harmless experiments."

"My lectures this year," he continued, "will concern themselves

New "Annual" Policy Will Go Into Effect

The new policy favoring greater coverage of Undergraduate Activity, recently announced by Ralph Swaine, Editor in Chief of "Old McGill '50", will be put into effect today. The pictures of the recent Dental Undergraduate events will be presented to the Dental students for their approval and then published in the "Annual."

The management hopes that the new policy will permit more comprehensive coverage of Undergraduate activity. Photographs will be taken by "Annual" representatives of all phases of University life and these will be recorded in an enlarged "Campus Life" and "General Activity" section. The Editors hope, in this manner, to arouse sufficient interest among the members of the lower years to make them feel that the "Annual" is as much their's as the graduates'.

Zoltan "Ben" Nyesle, the sub-manager, reported that an effort will be made to canvass all the faculties, individually, during the course of the year.

The students of the Dental Faculty are reminded that pictures of recent, and future, socials will be recorded in the "Annual" for their enjoyment.

Theological Enrolment Up

A greatly increased interest in the ministry as a career is indicated in the fact that there are 56 men and women studying theology in Montreal.

Thirty-five of them are enrolled in the new Faculty of Divinity at McGill University. Of these, 19 are candidates for the ministry of the United Church of Canada, and 13 are students of the Anglican Diocesan Theological College.

In addition, the Diocesan College has four students who are not enrolled at McGill, and the Presbyterian College has 17. Candidates for the ministry of all three denominations who are now studying in universities and colleges have also increased.

At McGill, 15 students are enrolled in the first year, 11 in the second year and nine in the third year of the Bachelor of Divinity course. Ten of the Diocesan students are newly-enrolled this year.

The Presbyterian College has five students in the first year, eight in the second, and four in the third.

NOTICE

Dawson Key nominations have been called for, it was announced by the Dawson College Students Council today. The nomination lists must be accompanied by ten signatures of students in the same faculty as the candidate.

These lists are to be handed into the Student Council office by 5 p.m., Friday, October 21, and voting will be held on October 26.

Junior Prom To be Held on December 2nd

The Junior Prom of this year will be held December 2nd, at 10 p.m.

Under the direction of SEC Councilor Isabel Gibb, the first meeting of the Junior Prom Committee was held in the Music Room of the McGill Union at 5 p.m. Present were representatives from the various Faculties, including, Bob Bouchard, Commerce; Gordon Bryson, Architecture; Doug Coupland, Dentistry; Dorothy Dwyer, Education; Len Harbour, Physical Education; Helen Lamb, Graduate Nurses; Barbara Lang, Music; Joan O'Connell, Arts and Science; George Piper, Engineering; Kay Starchuck, Physiotherapy.

Subject to the approval of the SEC, the committee nominated to the position of Chairman, George W. Piper, of Engineering. Other positions were assigned as follows:

Tickets—Gordon Bryson
Patrons and Printing — Joan O'Connell.

Checking—Shirley Fairhead.
Mess Hall and Refreshments—Doug Coupland.

Decorations—Kay Starchuck
Bob Bouchard, Dorothy Dwyer.

Band—Barbara Lang.
Accommodation—Helen Lamb.
Publicity—Len Harbour.
Problems and ideas concerning the dance were discussed and tentative plans were laid. The committee, this year is larger than usual which is necessary to carry out a programme for one of the biggest social events of the year.

Price of admission is expected to be the usual five dollars per couple. This, however, along with the selection of the band will be announced officially in subsequent issues of the Daily. New decorations schemes are being planned.

Call Orators Old and New Tryouts Soon

The first tryouts for debaters, both experienced and inexperienced, will be held by the McGill Union Debating Society this Thursday and Friday afternoon. The purpose of the tryouts is to determine the calibre of the debaters so that the best may be chosen when inter-collegiate debating begins.

Inexperienced debaters will have their tryouts Thursday at 5 p.m. in the McGill Union Ballroom. The topic chosen for all inexperienced debaters is "Resolved that Canadian Universities should be subsidized by the Federal Government." The debaters may take either side, pro or con, and will be allowed five minutes each to give their view.

Cuz Curran, vice-president of the Debating Society, has emphasized that these tryouts for "inexperienced" debaters include all freshmen and freshettes and anyone else who has never debated at McGill before. Cuz will be on hand to direct both tryouts.

For the experienced debaters the tryouts will be held Friday at 5 p.m., but the subject and place will only be announced in the Friday issue of the McGill Daily.

The purpose of these tryouts, as Cuz Curran has told the Daily, is not to eliminate debaters, but to determine the calibre of those students who are interested in debating so that when selections for inter-collegiate debating are made, the widest possible choice may be made. The policy of the Debating Society, Cuz Curran said, is not to use a few well-known debaters on the campus but to allow as many as possible who have shown sufficient skill in debating, to participate in inter-collegiate debates.

So that the Debating Society might get an idea of what material there is on the campus, Cuz Curran is urging any interested students to turn out for the tryouts. Only in this way, he added, would all students be assured of notice.

Suffers Face Cuts

Watertown, N.Y., Oct. 17. — Philip L. Lefler, 32, suffered face cuts yesterday when his airplane struck a 2,300-volt power line at the airport here while landing, and crashed. The wires fell around two cars proceeding along a road near the airport causing both machines to crash.

McGILL OUTING CLUB'S new house at Shawbridge, about 45 miles north of Montreal on Highway 11. Membership has increased so rapidly in the last few years that a larger house became necessary. The club meets in the Union ballroom Thursday night for a general meeting, when anyone wishing to join the club may do so. Movies and dancing will follow the brief business meeting.

Poet Explains Proper Role Of University

Kingston, Ont., Oct. 15. — Dr. E. J. Pratt of Toronto told a Queen's University convocation today that a university's role is to "set its face" against all the issues and factions which try to set a single purpose for it.

"The university," he said, "stands for the full expression of the human spirit where the intellectual and moral issues in their highest sense are in alliance."

Dr. Pratt, a prominent poet and head of the English Department of Victoria College, Toronto, gave the fall convocation address after receiving an honorary doctor of laws degree.

A similar degree was conferred on Edwin George Baker of Toronto, president of the Moore Corporation, Ltd., and chairman of the Canada Life Assurance Company, for his "prestige in business enterprise and in community service."

Dr. Pratt, who has lectured at Queen's University summer school for the last 15 years, was cited "as one who has achieved an enduring (Continued on Page 4)

ACS Ball Tickets on Sale Booth in Arts Bldg., Union

Tickets will go on sale today for the annual ACS Ball, which is to be held Friday, Oct. 28, in the Gymnasium. Jean Gay, chairman of the ticket committee, announced yesterday that a special booth will be set up in the Arts Building for this purpose. Students may buy their tickets at the Central Ticket Office as well, she said.

Both ticket centres will be open from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. and sales will continue until 4 p.m. on the day of the big formal. Jean Gay stressed the fact that the gym could only accommodate a certain number and that the tickets have been limited. She warns that if there is a rush on tickets for the first four days many students will be disappointed.

All tickets for the Ball are priced at $5 per couple. This price may seem high but the committee decided that it is a fair sum when the students consider what is being offered. The admission includes a table reservation.

The chairman of the committee stated that table reservations could be made Oct. 26 to Oct. 28, but that it would be a case of "first come, first served."

This year fraternities may reserve entire tables, but all orders of this type will necessarily have to be placed by Thursday, Oct. 27.

If there is a rush on reservations by the general student body, it will be impossible to hold any for fraternities.

Johnny Holmes and his "West-ernaires" will provide the music and a feature attraction by a well-known Montreal artist has been arranged. The name of the artist will be revealed in Wednesday's Daily.

IF STUDENTS of this Royal Institution for the Advancement of Learning can take their eyes off this cut long enough to read a few words, they would learn that the Varsity Cheerleaders are turning cartwheels to celebrate the 100th anniversary of the founding of the only time in the contest, 12-10.

SEC to Hold Open Meeting In Union Wednesday Night

Election Procedure

The following extract from the report of the S.E.C. election committee outlines the procedure to be followed in the elections on October 19.

The Faculty representatives shall be the Returning Officers in their respective Faculties. Their duties shall be as follows:

A. To make all administrative arrangements for the proper conduct of the elections in their respective Faculties.

B. To appoint the minimum number of Assistant Returning Officers necessary for the efficient conduct of the election.

C. To pick up the ballot boxes, ballots and voting lists at the McGill Union between 8.30 and 9.00 a.m., and to return same to the Union at 4.15 p.m. on the same day.

D. To assist in counting the ballots. (Each Faculty Representative may appoint one deputy to help count ballots after the election.)

E. In the event that any Faculty Representative is unable to perform his duties, he must name a deputy who must meet with the approval of the S.E.C.

Each candidate must name a scrutineer and submit his name to the Chief Returning Officer (in the S.E.C. office in the Union) before 5 p.m., Tuesday, October 18.

The duties of the candidate's scrutineer shall be to visit the polls to satisfy himself and his candidate that the election is being properly conducted; and to scrutinize the counting of the ballots after the election.

Sterling Area Students Find Going Tough

Students at McGill from "sterling area countries" are experienced financial difficulties due to devaluation, it was disclosed today by officials of the McGill Placement Service which has the task of placing hundreds of students in part-time jobs.

McGill has a large international enrolment, many of its students coming from such areas as the British West Indies. Some of the students from sterling area countries were fortunate in bringing enough money, which they converted into dollars immediately, to last them several months. Others are on a month-to-month basis and are finding the going pretty rough due to the shrinkage in the dollar value of the pound sterling.

The Placement Service had nearly 1,100 students registered for part-time employment last session and already there are several hundred on the list for this session. The students, who are seeking funds to stretch out their own private resources or Dominion Government rehabilitation grants, are willing to tackle pretty nearly anything from baby-sitting or housework to tutoring or book-keeping.

Other types of work sought include fall work, such as putting up double windows, painting, work on grounds, waiting on tables, stenography, type-writing, translation, driving motor cars, office work or something in the entertainment field such as playing in an orchestra, planning concerts or singing.

Veterans form the largest group of those seeking employment. There are still about 2,000 of them at McGill.

Newman Club Plans Year's Social Events

Further changes in the Executive of the Newman Club at McGill University were announced today with the appointment of Jack Beauregard, Eng. 4, as co-chairman of the Social Committee.

The new appointee, who will share responsibilities with Rita Carriere, is a graduate of Loyola College where he presided over their orchestra as well as playing an important part in the recreational activities of that college.

Shortly after the above was reported, the songs he should

Commerce Smoker To Feature Entertainers

The Commerce Undergraduate Society will hold a smoker in the Union Ballroom on October 21, 1949.

"Events will get underway at 8 p.m. and the following well-known, local entertainers have been contacted," states Derek Ramsey, president of the Commerce Undergraduate Society. Jimmy Moore, popular C.S.L. entertainer, will keep the fun rolling in his capacity of Master of Ceremonies. Dancing routines will be offered by Vera Noodle and Lola Moore, prominent night club performers.

Supplying the mysteries, will be Tom Auburn, a well-known magician. A Gay Nineties finale involving participation by members of the audience will round out the evening's program.

Vic Obeck, coach of the senior football team, has been asked to attend as well as all members of the faculty.

This smoker is a departure from the more formal banquets of previous years.

Tickets will go on sale Tuesday, October 18, at the Union Ticket Shop.

Chevrier Condemns Obstacles To Truth

Ottawa. — (Special) — False ideas in philosophy, science, political economy and theology today make the teaching of truth at a university difficult, Transport Minister Lionel Chevrier said last Friday at the University of Ottawa.

He went on to say that Communism and allied ideas had encroached on those educational fields so closely that it was hard for a student to tell what was truth and what was falsehood.

"And," he went on, "it is essential that our young graduates know how to distinguish between right and wrong, truth and error."

The role of any university was to teach the truth and to overcome the obstacles to its dissemination, Mr. Chevrier related.

Another role, he said, meant that a university had to give students a good general liberal arts education.

"The accent today seems to be strongly in favor of specialization," he stated, "but though good, it can be overdone." The University of Ottawa was holding the middle-way between specialization on the one hand and the arts and humanities on the other. For doing so it deserved the highest commendation, he said.

National Director Addresses Hillel Foundation Meeting

A challenge to all students to help solve the problems of our society was issued by Rabbi Arthur J. Lelyveld, in his speech at Hillel House last Thursday afternoon.

Rabbi Lelyveld, who is National Director of B'nai B'rith Hillel Foundations, spoke before a capacity audience in the first cultural program of the term.

Rabbi Lelyveld commenced by telling the assembly of a most enjoyable hour which he and Rabbi Samuel Cass, local Hillel Director, spent with Principal James earlier in the day. He stated that he is always pleased to see that university administrators are aware of the work that the Hillel Foundations are doing among students on campus across the continent, and have such high opinions of this work.

Proceeding to his main topic, "Hillel versus Willie Loman," the Rabbi explained that Willie Loman is the tragic character in the Broadway play "Death of a Salesman." The tragedy of Willie Loman is that he has no interest in his work, and his ideal in life is to be liked. He is a lovable, potentially happy person, but he is crushed by the civilization in which he lives, and is driven to suicide by family troubles. He has no conception of what he really is — his ideals are far inferior to himself.

Rabbi Lelyveld pointed out that we must all consider the potentialities within us. As an analogy to Willie Loman he used the last scene of Ibsen's "Peer Gynt." In this scene all the deeds he should have done, the thoughts he should have thought, and the songs he should have sung, pass in review before Peer Gynt.

The Rabbi said that all individuals should ask themselves three questions: "What am I?" "What are my potentialities?" "How can I fulfill them?"

With the answers to these questions in mind, we must then go on to find the proper relation between potentialities and economic needs. He emphasized that individuals should consider themselves part of our civilization, and should think constructively in an effort to keep civilization out of troubles which seem imminent. By helping to integrate Jewish students into society, and by making them aware of their great cultural heritage, the Hillel Foundation is helping to solve tomorrow's problems, said the Rabbi.

He summarized his talk by using two words — Awareness and Concern. He stated that if we are aware of our heritages and potentialities, and if we feel concern about our own future, we will find a way to solve individual problems and those of our society.

The Rabbi was highly amused when shown a copy of Thursday's Daily, in which his picture was erroneously captioned "Willie Loman." He remarked that he does not consider himself as corpulent as Lee J. Cobb, who is playing the role on Broadway, and thinks there is no resemblance.

The meeting at Hillel was chaired by Ronald Melzack, co-chairman of the cultural committee. Rabbi Cass introduced the speaker. Later in the day, Rabbi Lelyveld met and addressed the Board of Directors of the Hillel Foundation of Montreal.

OPEN MEETING

Tomorrow evening the student body will have an opportunity to attend an open meeting of the Students' Executive Council and observed its governing body at work.

Newcomers and a few old timers as well appear to be somewhat confused about the difference between a general meeting of the Students' Society, to which every undergraduate student belongs, and an open meeting of the Students' Executive Council, which is the equivalent of a city council.

One general meeting of the Students Society is held in the fall and one in the spring. At these meetings motions can be made and questions asked by anyone in the student body. Although these two meetings are the only general Student Society meetings scheduled, a meeting can be called on three days notice by the president of the Students Society. Furthermore, if 250 students make a written request for a general meeting the president is obliged to call one.

Tomorrow night's meeting is one of the regular weekly meetings of the Students Executive Council, at which the president of the Students Society acts as chairman. These weekly meetings are usually closed to the student body, except when a person or group wishes to appear before the council for a ruling on some particular question concerning the student body or to air a grievance.

There appears to be no precedence at McGill for holding an open meeting of the council. It has been called to give the student body an opportunity to become more familiar with student self-government. There is a possibility that one group involved in the current radio controversy will appear before the council to register a complaint. If this group does appear, the student body will have an excellent opportunity to see how such problems should be taken to the S. E. C. and to see how the S. E. C. deals with them.

The student body will be able to attend this open meeting only as observers and will not be able to ask questions or make motions. The S. E. C. can go into closed session at any time if a motion for such a move is passed by the members of the council.

This is an excellent opportunity to become more familiar with student government at McGill and to become better acquainted with the faculty representatives and other members who are entrusted with the welfare of the student body, with orderly conduct of student affairs and with the handling of an eighth of a million dollars of student money.—C. K.

LET'S LAY OFF

One of three stories which appeared in The McGill Daily this week dealing with the Western-McGill game began with the sentence: "Western students surprised nobody by doing two things at the start of the game: (1) booing Marv Melrowitz when he came on the field and (2) yelling 'Yea Calgary, Yea Stampede' when the McGill squad came on the field."

This is, in the alternative meaning of the word, a sentence—a sentence justly condemning Western's good sportsmanship.

Two years ago the amicable feeling between Western and McGill came to an end because of our objection to the way in which one member of the McGill team played. This objection was soon transferred to the whole team and was sparked every time the Mustangs lost a yard to the Redmen.

Your Gazette was as much at fault as anyone in generating this feeling.

This year, when McGill sought to bring its team from the bottom to the winning slot, sports enthusiasts and columnists seized the opportunity to attack Vic Obeck.

On Saturday this attitude was pointed up by the grandstand. The reference to the importation of Calgary players to the McGill team, and the attack against Melrowitz before he actually had taken part in a play, showed lack of sportsmanship, courtesy and common sense.

If this energy had been put to better use—the support of the Mustangs—more would have been won than the game. We could have contributed to the healing of the open sore of rivalry between the two schools.

And we owe it to our team to give clean support for clean playing. When we in the grandstands voice vitriolic attacks against the opposing team, we make it that much more difficult for the Mustangs, who seldom enter into the controversy.

We're proud of the Mustangs and believe they won the game without the help of the referees as inferred by The McGill Daily. We offer our condolences to the Redmen who lost a well-played game and we also apologize for the improprieties of some of our students.

The time has come for cessation of our attacks and to try for better relationship between the schools.

Let's not dispense with rivalry, but let's keep it friendly.

Letters to the Editor

CONTACT NOT IDENTIFICATION

Editor, The Daily:
 Dr. Watson Kirkconnell has done a serious injustice to the Student Christian Movement and a disservice to the cause of religion in the universities, by his letter pointing out that the S.C.M. was represented at the Budapest Congress of the "World Federation of Democratic Youth." The intended inference is incorrect. Dr. Kirkconnell has not told the whole truth, presumably because he himself is not fully informed.

Three facts need to be stated to put the matter in perspective: (1) All three delegates who attended this Congress are convinced Christians, and active members of the Christian Church. None of them is active in any political party. Their purpose in going was thus expressed in a letter written by one of them while en route to Budapest: "The Christian group has not only to attempt initiating a Christian policy but has also to present Christ."

(2) The same delegates represented the S.C.M. not only at Budapest, but also at conferences of the British S.C.M. and of the World Council of Churches in England, and of the "World Assembly of Youth" in Brussels. The last-named is composed of youth agencies in western Europe and North America, which find themselves unable to work through the W.F.D.Y. (3) The decision to try to maintain contact with both Eastern and Western groups was not lightly taken, as the following excerpt from an account of the 1949 meeting of the National Council of the Canadian S.C.M. will show: "The question of our affiliation with the W.F.D.Y. was the battleground for the most intense debate of the entire Council. A vote was taken after two evenings of heavy argument. It was decided on the conviction that more than ever before, we are called on to make a Christian voice heard in the W.F.D.Y. We would also affiliate with the World Assembly of Youth... There are indeed dangers to face, such as public disapproval of the S.C.M. for its affiliation with the W.F.D.Y.... But nothing could alter the fact that we, who believe that Christ is Lord of all the Earth, and not just of the western nations, should maintain contact with the W.F.D.Y. and the eastern countries."

The noteworthy thing about this decision is that it was made after serious consideration of all the factors involved, and on the highest religious grounds. These young people may be mistaken in hoping to make an effective Christian witness at a meeting of this kind, behind the Iron curtain. It looks like a forlorn hope, and it may be that as a result of the delegates' report the S.C.M. will come to this conclusion. But the faith which was the ground of the hope is real, and does not deserve to be met with innuendo and mockery. Contact does not imply identification, as they know well who remember the accusation—"a friend of publicans and sinners."

CHESS AND CHECKER CLUB
 The President, Manuel Litwin, announced that a meeting will be held today at 8:00 p.m. in the Reading Room. All members and those wishing to become members are requested to attend as a schedule for the tournament will be arranged. The winners of the tournament will represent McGill in the Intercollegiate Tournaments and in the Montreal Chess League.

MCGILL PLAYERS CLUB
 Casting for the first Players Club Production, "Ten Little Indians" to be held in Moyses Hall will start at 7:30 sharp on Thursday, Oct. 20 in the New Room, McGill Union. It is imperative that all who wish to take part in this Production turn up on Thursday as this will be the FINAL casting.

PROFESSOR HARROP IN SPAIN

An interesting account of his recent trip to Spain and Portugal this summer was given the Daily Inter-viewer by Prof. Harrop of the Spanish Department. Among universities visited by Prof. Harrop were those at Madrid and Santander, and the Portuguese university in Coimbra.

The International University at Santander, which holds a summer school attended largely by foreign students, utilizes for the present the buildings and grounds of the old summer residence of the deposed Royal Family. New college buildings are soon to be built, including university residences. Efforts are now being made by many Spanish educators to bring students together in university residences in order to create a more unified spirit among the extremely individualistic young Spaniards. Formerly, students were housed in separate boarding-houses.

The Santander Summer School awarded diplomas to successful students upon completion of studies. Graduation ceremonies were carried out in true medieval tradition with a procession of bearded and be-wigged dignitaries, splendidly costumed and bearing all the colorful accoutrements of office. Many scholarships were awarded to Canadians.

Throughout the summer session various fine evening concerts were offered the students—the shows usually beginning about half past eleven, following the conventional 9 to 11:30 o'clock dinner hour of Spain. On a seemingly unlimited entertainment budget, concerts of folk-singing and dancing, plays, and recitals by professional artists were presented in the striking natural beauty of the courtyard setting. Regional Spanish differences were emphasized in the varied costumes, choral folklore, and dances. The National Theatre produced a drama from the Spanish

Golden Age, and a morality play was acted on the steps of the nearby Twelfth Century Collegiate at Santillana against the flood-like radiance of its golden architecture.

Spanish students evinced considerable interest in the Canadian way of life. However, it is mostly towards the more exotic elements, such as the wild west and northern trappers, which have been played up in novels of this country, that their interest is directed.

Prof. Harrop commented on the fact that with a little forethought it is possible for a foreign student to live in Spain for as little as three dollars a day—board and meals included. The cost of living is cut by about one-third for students from the dollar countries at the current rate of exchange. The International Train Service to Spain is excellent, although it is sometimes necessary to wait three weeks for a seat. Other train service in the mountainous country is inclined to be poor, but the good nature of the passengers almost makes the visitor forget the discomforts suffered on the trip.

The University of Coimbra has provided Portugal with its present prime minister—for Dr. Antonio de Oliveira Salazar was a former professor of economics at the university. The college, famous from medieval times, has carried on tradition in the daily costume worn by its students. Black tail-coats, bow-ties, and cloaks mark out the students who carry black portfolios from which hang colored sashes—different colors indicating to which faculty the bearer belongs. The graduation ceremony is entitled "a quema das fitas" or "the burning of the ribbons," signifying the close of the college career.

It is to be hoped that further contact with Spanish students may be available in the near future to students desirous of becoming better acquainted with their interesting confreres across the ocean.

The McGill Placement Service Men Baby-Sitters

CLAUDE RUBENSTEIN

In a middle-sized, unimposing building at 3466 University Street, is housed the McGill Placement Service. It is not every student who can wend his way through a scholastic career without having to pass through its portals whether it be work of a part-time, summer or post graduate nature. It was with this purpose that the Placement Service had been designed.

The Service was instituted two years ago and since then has made great strides. This past summer (May to September, inclusive) for example, it has placed some four hundred students in a variety of positions throughout Canada. The largest recipients of McGill effort are the Canadian Pacific Railways, Bell Telephone Company, Canadian Industries Limited, Canadian National Railways and the Aluminum Company of Canada. It is reported that the Manoir Richelieu, one of Canada's swank resort hotels, whose staff numbers about 500, was ninety per cent McGill students.

On the pecuniary side, our people earned from $30 to $55 a week. Those employed in the resort and tourist areas brought home the heaviest pay envelopes. A fortunate few had their board and food accounted for for the period of time employed. As for the working gender, the Service reports that the distasteful side was in the minority seeking summer employment. It was pointed out by Miss R. Pelletier, Assistant to the Director, "Last summer's placement was more difficult than before." She attributed this to a tightening up on the outside today. Consequently, all those interested in employment for next summer should maintain a constant surveillance of the Placement Service bulletin boards posted about the school, in the main, to ascertain when the all-important date for summer registration is. She also added, "We can place people for the Christmas recess in the Post Office Department or in department stores in the selling and stock-room ends. From the student viewpoint our job is to get to employers. All we ask is that if you apply please cooperate to the fullest with us. Otherwise, it may mean the loss of a position for someone else. And as for summer employment, kindly be patient until the registration dates go up."

In addition to the summer placement service, there are three other phases of the McGill Placement Service:

1. part-time
2. the present, graduating class
3. replacement of men and women who are graduates of McGill

Regarding the part-time employment, Mr. C. M. McDougall, the Director, stated, "Our part-time employment lies largely in baby sitting and household chores. They pay $4.00 to $5.00 and $7.50 the hour respectively." Ironically enough, it was pointed out, "Our baby-sitters are for the most part men, stating that they can go home late at night by themselves. Reports from parents state that men are very competent. In many cases, the parents give the sitters the run of the house including the all important refrigerator."

The Placement Service does not merely place those without any special talents. It has obtained work for a magician at children's parties, ballroom dancers, a translator of Russian Technical Documents, court stenographers and interpreters. For the more erudite, it places tutors at from $1.50 to $2.00 the hour. It seems as if there is even a craving for the dangerous... some students worked in the mines of Northern Ontario this past summer earning $95 an hour for a forty-eight hour week. All in all, it is quite manifest that the McGill Placement Service is doing its level best to help you. Do your part if you are interested in some kind of employment (other than summer work now). As Mr. McDougall reiterates, "Register now!"

MCGILL LPP CLUB

The McGill LPP Club will begin its campus activities with a meeting to be held Tuesday, Oct. 18 at 8 p.m. in the New Room of the Union. This important meeting will be devoted to a discussion of club policy and of plans for future club activities.

HILLEL CHOIR

For the next two rehearsals, the Hillel Choir will meet on Thursday evening at 8:30 p.m. at Hillel House. There is still room for new voices in all sections. Members are requested to attend rehearsals regularly, so that music may be issued.

The Last Chance

By MARION van der WALDE BA2

"Class four, Great Dances, in ring three! Will all handlers showing Great Dances in Class four please go to ring three! Great Dances..."

Pat, fishing in her purse for the program, ignored the booming monotone of the announcer's voice. She leafed through the pages until she came to the section headed "Working Dogs."

"Samoyeds," she muttered, "Schnauzers, Shetland Sheepdogs, Siberian Huskies, — here we are, Saint Bernards! Ring two, at four o'clock." She consulted her wrist-watch, and turned to the huge dog sitting next to her.

"That gives us almost half an hour, Cappy," she held the program under his nose, and pointed at the print. "Alpenhorpe's Captain, owned and handled by Miss Patricia Colbrooke, Bench 209, Champion Sunnywood Target," she went on slowly, "owned and handled by Mrs. L. J. Harrison, Bench 210." She peered around the dividing partition at the immense Saint Bernard in the neighbouring box. Then she looked at Cappy.

"You can win," she told him confidently. "You've beaten him in the last two shows. Let's make it three in a row, eh, old fellow?"

Tugging absently at his ears, Pat thought back over all the dog shows at which Cappy and Target had been rivals. Neither dog had ever been beaten by any other Saint Bernard, and the decision between the two had always been a close one. The competition had continued through the years, until now, at the year's most important show, they were to compete once again for the gold Saint Bernard Trophy. If Cappy won, not only would he receive this coveted cup, but he would also gain his championship status, the goal of every show dog. A win today would insure him the one point he needed to complete the ten marks necessary for a championship.

Pat awakened from her reverie to find Mrs. Harrison, Target's owner, coming towards her. She greeted Pat, and then glanced appraisingly at Captain. "He's certainly in fine shape," she remarked.

"Target looks well, too," returned Pat politely.

To her surprise, Mrs. Harrison sighed. "It's his last show," she confided. "You know, he's almost nine years old, and I think it would be best to retire him from the ring. He's had a wonderful show career, anyway." She looked at him fondly. "I think I'll go get him some water." She took his bowl, and in a few seconds was lost in the crowd.

Pat stood back, and for a long moment examined Target.

"It's true," she thought, "he's getting old. I never noticed how much heavier he's grown. Why, Cappy will win today without even trying! He'll get his championship!"

She looked at Target again, and stopped short at the look in his eyes. It was almost as though he were pleading with her, she thought, — pleading for this last chance!

She turned abruptly, and sat down next to Cappy. People were milling around her, asking endless questions about her dog. She answered them all, but she could not get the thought of Target out of her mind.

"He'll never be shown again," a little voice inside her said. "It's his last chance to win."

"Cappy, you're going to win," Pat cried aloud. "You'll get your championship!"

"Cappy's only four years old," the little voice nagged, "he has plenty of time to win that one point. Target hasn't. It's his last chance." Pat got up, and without looking at either dog, she made her way to the officials' box. One of the judges turned to her.

"Yes?" he inquired. "My name is Patricia Colbrooke," said Pat steadily. "I should like to withdraw the Saint Bernard entry, Alpenhorpe's Captain. He — has a sore paw."

Fifteen minutes later, sitting on the bench with Cappy's beautiful head in her lap, Pat heard the announcement:

"First prize in the Saint Bernard class — Champion Sunnywood Target, owned and handled by Mrs. L. J. Harrison. Second prize..." "You don't mind, do you, Cappy?" she whispered. "It was his last chance..."

Falls on Spiko

Louisville, Ky., Oct. 17 — Thomas Southern, 42, was taken to hospital yesterday with an iron fence spike through his chin. Police said Southern apparently stumbled and fell on the fence while walking. The half-inch spike penetrated through the chin to the mouth. Rescuers released him by sawing the spike from the fence.

World Can Support Its People—Kimble

Prophets of gloom who say the world is not adequate to support its peoples "should not unduly depress us," Dr. George H. T. Kimble, head of the department of geography, told an Ottawa meeting of the Graduates' Society Wednesday night.

"They would have us believe that nature is quitting the housekeeping business, that she is tired of patching up the scars of war, drought, and exploitation, and that the world's cupboards will soon be bare," Dr. Kimble said.

Citing evidence to show that the Nile and Ganges river valleys, and the main rivers of China are providing for thicker populations than ever before, Dr. Kimble said: "Most of us are still a long way from realizing just how good the world is. Even the deserts of the world are good for something."

Cairo, Oct. 17. — Mustafa Marei Bey, Minister of State and a member of the Nationalist Party, resigned last night for "private reasons" from Premier Hussein Sirry Pasha's Cabinet.

World War 1 Med Veterans Hold Reunion

A class reunion will be held all next week of veterans of the First World War, who entered McGill and graduated in medicine in 1924, to mark the 25th anniversary of their graduation.

This was the largest medical class in the history of McGill, according to records which show that there were nearly 140 in the group.

One of the graduates is coming from as far away as Honolulu. The class is now widely scattered, and includes prominent medical professors.

Among the out-of-town members of the group will be Dr. Gordon Douglas, professor of obstetrics and gynaecology at Cornell University; Dr. Sidney Britton, professor of physiology at the University of Virginia; Dr. John Walker, associated professor of tropical medicine at Tulane University, New Orleans; Dr. Allister MacLellan, prominent New York surgeon and urologist, and H. W. Trotter, Boston, who gained fame in the U.S. Army Air Force in the recent war, and who is a well-known author and scholar.

Dr. Vance Ward is chairman of the local committee on arrangements. One of the members of the class, Dr. C. J. Tidmarsh, has been honored by the graduates of the university who elected him president of the parent society.

Other local members of the class include Drs. E. A. Amos, E. A. Blumenfeld, Reuben Breitman, F. S. Dorrance, Arthur Elvidge, A. K. Geddes, J. J. Griffith, J. S. Henry, S. A. Korenberg, C. A. McIntosh, George Morgan, H. Graham Ross, Joseph Ryan, J. G. Quackenbush, B. W. Segal, H. J. Skeet and Norman Vines.

Vancouver — (CUP) — Only two Canadian universities have daily newspapers this year. These are the University of Toronto The Varsity, of course, and the McGill Daily. The third member of the college dailies, The Ubyssy, at the University of British Columbia, has been cut down this year to a three weekly basis, publishing on Tues., Thurs., and Fri. Financial straits of the UBC Alma Mater Society are blamed for this cut.

60 YEARS OF ACCOMPLISHMENT

Fifty years ago the horse-drawn dray was the vehicle used to transport freight and heavy merchandise along the streets. Today trucks of all types and sizes move goods along our streets and highways. Speeds and loads have been steadily increased through better engineering and better materials used in truck construction. Strong, tough, shock-resisting Nickel alloys are almost universally used for gears, crankshafts, frames and many other parts.

Nickel Brings Dollars to Canada

Since more than ninety per cent of the Nickel produced in Canada is sold to the United States and other countries, it brings a constant flow of dollars back to Canada. In fact, Canada's Nickel industry is one of our chief sources of U.S. dollars so essential at the present time to maintain our foreign trade and make available products not produced in this country.

These dollars help pay the wages of the 14,000 Nickel employees, and help provide the dollars which make it possible to pay millions in freight to Canadian railways, to buy timber, steel, coal, machinery and supplies amounting to many millions each year. These millions, flowing into all industries through the length and breadth of Canada, help create jobs for Canadians.

THE VARSITY BLUES
Varsity Blues—they call 'em! That's just what the Toronto squad is. A deep shade of blue. A fighting Red team spearheaded by a hard driving line humbled those mighty Blue sweatered grid men from the Queen city.

The era of the Red doormat in the CIAU loop is over. No more will the proud Blues and Mustangs lord it over McGill. Three years of hard work have finally paid off for Vic Obeck, the coach of the Redmen. There have been great changes made at this old college 'neath the hill.

ONE YEAR AGO
One year ago, the Redmen faced Varsity in identically the same situation. They were fresh from an inspired showing against the power packed Mustangs from London. The general feeling about the Molson grid and its environs was that the Obeckmen would give the Varsity squad quite a run for its money.

But—come Saturday afternoon at the Beer Bowl and McGill fell apart at the seams. Varsity's Bob Cummings unleashed his siege gun arm and let go with a barrage of passes that drove McGill into the ground. At the end of the debacle, the "big Red machine" was on the short end of a 41-0 whitewashing.

Slingshot Bob stood behind that line of his lit up a cigarette, spotted a likely looking receiver, waited for him to get clear, set himself, and heaved the pigskin. More often than not he connected. The question on everyone's lips was "Where was the McGill line?"

OFFENSIVE?
The Redmen held the ball for offensive plays sixty-six times. Nineteen of these were pass plays of which only seven were good. In forty-seven ground plays McGill collected only 197 yards for an average of 4.19 yards per play. They kicked fourteen times for five hundred and ten yards. These are not figures to be ashamed of but they are not the type of statistics that a winning team shows.

Saturday last, one year later, against the same team, the Redmen ran sixty-nine plays of which eight were pass plays. Four of these were completed. A fifty per cent average which is a large sight better than the nineteen per cent of completions of last year.

STEAMROLLER
This year's squad steamrollered its way to 395 yards on the ground. One sports follower to whom these figures were shown was frankly doubtful. "Not even Notre Dame would who what large a gain often. In Canada, never." Against this compare the Varsity total of sixty-two yards. This was so low that one of the local sports scribes thought he had misread the statistical reports and printed the totals as a higher figure.

The McGill backs were great, but that line was really outstanding. Offensively they were near perfect. Cummings and Brown were several times thrown for huge losses on pass plays when that vaunted Varsity line failed to hold against the charging Red horde.

Still the thing that really carried the McGill squad to its greatest victory in 10 years was the indomitable spirit that possessed each and every man on the squad. Reams have already been written on the great McGill spirit. We would like to add just one footnote, however, in a further attempt to show the great team spirit that exists on the squad.

It was after the game and the players were dressing in little groups, rehearsing the game amongst themselves. One of the individual stars of the game walked by a group on his way to the door. One of the boys called out in a bantering tone: "There goes McGill's big star!" The player turned to the fellow who made the remark: "There's no star here, we're a team." With an attitude like that McGill can't lose.

AROUND AND ABOUT
We hear that Joe Verdeur, considered by most to be the greatest swimmer in the world, is coming up here in early February. The Olympic star is expected to race against big Iv Koplin, the Canadian breast stroke champion.

The last time these two met was two years ago in Philadelphia. Verdeur was then at the greatest height of his form and beat the huge McGill natator by 20 yards. However, Koplin has had two years more experience and now ranks among North America's best. The results should be much different this year.

Grads Beat Comm 16 to 6

In yesterday's touch football tilt, the Grads staved off a fighting Commerce 1&2 team in the last minutes of the game to emerge victors by a 16-6 score.

H. Blades was the standout for the Grads scoring 10 of the 16 points. J. Popst and J. Stachiewicz scored 5 and 1 respectively.

The Commerce 1 and 2 boys played heads up ball but could not seem to dent the Grads defense until the last half of the game. Furse and Scrimgeour were responsible for the Commerce points, scoring 1 and 5 respectively.

The game was played in a wide open and hard fought manner and the actual struggle was far closer than the score indicates.

Senior Trackmen Set For Western Invasion

Coach Van Wagner's McGill Track team expects a close contest in the Intercollegiate Track and Field meet opening Wednesday at London, Ontario. All CIAU clubs entering the event, Western, Queen's and particularly Toronto, are expected to field strong squads against the McGill boys.

In the sprints Toronto will probably enter McFadden and Zuberec. Both these boys showed well in the Varsity Intramural Meet. Western's hopes in the shorter runs are on the shoulders of Footballers Jack Parry and Bob Pierce. McGill will counter with their own gridiron star, Pete Robinson, and last year's Intermediate sprint star, Len Simmerman.

McGill's hurdle stock went up with the addition of another footballer, Ken Wagner to the team list. He will run in the low hurdles with Flip Flewelling. Flip will also take the high hurdle event, along with MacDonald man Livingstone.

With the loss of Bill Larochelle Western's hopes in the hurdles are unknown. Varsity have Intercollegiate Champ Rhaimie and a boy who has come along well in recent meets Farlinger.

The Toronto team has added considerable strength in the middle distance events, with newcomers Kofmel and Gatzuk. Gatzuk is a product of Lloyd Percival's All-Canadian High School Track team, Western has Olympic and British Empire team members Bob and Don Macfarlane in these events while Queen's has another Percival man in Gordon Haight. McGill's hopes in these races are Jeff Taylor, Intercollegiate 440 winner

Boxing Squad Meets in Gym For First Time

McGill's pugilistic season gets underway today at 5:00 in the B.W.F. room of the Sir Arthur Currie Gymnasium. Mill Orr, coach, has requested that all students interested in either boxing or its managerial aspect should report at this organizational meeting.

Andy McGillis who has done an excellent job of turning out scrappers at St. Leo's will aid Orr in an advisory capacity throughout the year.

Sessions will be held at the Gym every Tues. and Thurs. afternoon from 5:15 to 6:15. Orr has outlined an interesting program for the current season with the first taste of action scheduled for Athletics Night 1. Queen's University, reigning Intercollegiate Boxing Champions, will trade blows with the local pugilists and can be counted on to provide keen competition. Several other exhibitions will be arranged during the course of the season with the culmination of the year's efforts being the Intercollegiate Boxing Meet scheduled to take place in Toronto the last week of February.

Among past performers expected to return to the ring are Ron Forgue, boxing in the 147 lb. division, and Bob McAllister, 155 pounder. Bob, an end on the senior edition of the Red gridders, was highly impressive throughout last season, and was chosen to the Intercollegiate team. Pete McMillan is also expected to turn out this year and should prove valuable to McGill's championship aspirations.

As in other sports, graduation has taken its toll. Griff Marshall, 133 lbs., and John Heney, 140 lbs., both Intercollegiate champs in their respective divisions, were capped last May.

Frankie Creaghan, 165 lb. member of the mauling Intercollegiate Boxing Championship team of 1948 as were Marshall, Heney and Orr is also lost to McGill. Creaghan recently won the Dominion Boxing Championship and may head for the British Empire games.

Dot Spowart Top Archer

Last Friday saw the close of the McGill Silver Arrow Tournament. The competition was very close and ended with Dorothy Spowart on top. Lenore Griffin and Phyllis Bobyk tied for second and Shirley Courts pulling up in the third slot.

As a result of their fine showing, these girls will be travelling to Toronto next Thursday afternoon. They will once again try to bring back Intercollegiate Archery honours to McGill, which the girls won last year.

Tetrault and Walsh Runners Up in Test

By PAUL KOPPEL
Mrs. Hackett's little boy, David, is not content with playing starring roles on both the Senior Football and Senior Hockey teams, but he has to add to his laurels by coping the Intramural tennis honors. The tournament came to an end yesterday as Hackett beat Pete Walsh in the semi-final round and went on to victory over Jacques Tetrault in the finals.

The Tetrault-Hackett match lasted less than an hour, as the Boston boy won two straight sets 6-2, 7-5. Tetrault played his usual steady game, placing his drives well and rushing the net infrequently, but Hackett's blazing service and beautiful net game were just too much for him. Hackett rushed the net often, but when he was unable to smash because of Tetrault's frequent lobs, he would race back and send a screaming drive past his on-rushing opponent.

Hackett was the aggressor throughout the first match and won handily despite a good number of double faults. Dave managed to amass three of these in a row at one stage of the game. Tetrault opened up in the second set and took a 4-2 lead, which later became 5-4. For a while it looked as though Jacques would be able to tie the series with another game, but Hackett came up strong and won the next three games, the set, and the title.

Previously Hackett had beaten Walsh 6-3, 6-2, in the semi-finals. Both these boys play the same type of game, fast and aggressive, and as they stated later it was the kind of game each enjoys.

The McGill Tennis Championship Tournament will get under way today, and it is expected that all three of the big men in the Intramural tournament, Hackett, Tetrault and Walsh, will be in there fighting for new honors.

FLASH !

Word has been received from a reliable source that Cy Belgier, captain of the '49 edition of the Redmen, will coach the McGill Inter. in the Ottawa-St. Lawrence hockey league.

Cy, who hails from Regina, is certainly no newcomer to our hockey circles. He played four years of collegiate hockey for McGill and also lined up with Boston Olympics from '38-'41.

Belgier's career came to an abrupt end when he was injured in a game with Varsity. As will be recalled, Cy was carried off the ice unconscious. He suffered a concussion of the brain and was of no further use to Coach Campbell's squad.

This year Belgier will remain on the sidelines when the Seniors launch their season the latter part of November. With Cy at the helm of the Inter. McGill can look forward to a top-flight team.

Freshmen Cut From Hockey Prep Today

Some sixty prospects for both the Senior and Intermediate Hockey teams turned out yesterday at the Forum to loosen up their stiff joints with a light skating practice for an hour. However, today's practice will be for those who are eligible to play Senior Hockey, that is, Freshmen and those who are restricted from playing sports by the McGill authorities are asked not to turn out tomorrow. The practices for the Intermediate team will begin shortly and all Freshmen who are interested can turn out then.

There is no doubt in Coach Campbell's mind that the big question mark will be the goaler this year. The loss of Jack Gellin, the Intercollegiate loop's best goaler, to the Boston Bruins of the N.H.L. leaves a serious gap in the team. Several goalers are trying out this year and they are names familiar to Inter and Senior fans alike, Skip Sheldon, Magor and Gagnon all of whom goaled for the Braves last year and Dobell who goaled some of the Senior games last year are the hopefuls for this position.

The rail birds did some heavy noticing as the prospects skated around and were pleased to note five members of last year's Senior team back. These include Charlie Lafontaine, Bob Payette, Sandy Sanderson, Bob Russell and Phil Henry. From the Redmen's farm system it was noticed that Duke and Murphy of last year's Intermediate team and Zemel, Beau-doin, Currie, Ensign and Cuttle, all of whom have played for the Dawson Intermediate squad were really zipping it up on the ice.

As yet, there has been no coach named to the Intermediate team. The post was made vacant with the graduation of last year's coach Warren Chippendale. The Inter team has several good prospects, notably some ex-players from Montreal St. Louis who are freshmen here at McGill and thus ineligible to play.

ELECTRICAL CLUB

A general meeting of the Electrical Club will take place in Room 37 of the Engineering Building on Wednesday, October 19th, at one p.m. The purpose of this meeting is to outline the general policy of the Electrical Club to new members and to give a resume of the year's activities.

No Comment—Abramovitz After First Hoop Turnout

Over thirty-five hopefuls turned out last night to greet McGill's new basketball coach, Moe Abramovitz. The new mentor was not particularly loquacious last night and declined to make any predictions or statements. He wishes to look over the material on hand before making any plans.

Four Holdovers

There were only four members of last year's squad at last night's practice. Mike Bloom, the top scorer is back in grad work and eligible to play. He is a good asset to any hoop squad. Along with Mike is Lou Endman, who played junior for Abramovitz several year's ago.

Lou is a pretty good ball player when he sets his mind to it. By all indications Lou is in for a banner year this season.

The other two who have returned to the fold are Eli Godel and Hy Berger. Both were with the seniors last year and performed creditably. Ted Bembridge of last year's inter squad was on the floor and showed impressively.

Coach Abramovitz plans to put the aspirants through a couple of stiff conditioning sessions and then go to work on the fundamentals. Practices will be held from 5:30 p.m. to 7:30 p.m. every Monday, Tuesday, and Thursday afternoons. All those interested should show up for practices.
